SUMMARY

"Researcher and Academic Specialized in Social Theatre Arts and Psychological Drama with 10 Years of Experience I have combined the arts, education, and psychological therapy. I have managed international cultural projects, published impactful research in peer-reviewed journals, and authored creative content that connects creativity with mental health and behavior. I possess leadership skills in team development and expertise in modern digital tools for producing exceptional content. I aim to integrate performing arts into education to cultivate a generation that appreciates beauty in their surroundings and enhances their creative abilities. My goal is to improve the educational process and assist students in reaching their full potential.
